

When we heard that K-Love was in danger of losing its spot on the radio, I almost died. We have been so blessed and encouraged by such a great radio station. Not only is it uplifting and safe, but it provides practical helps for everyday life, something thats hard to find anymore. K-love improves the life of my family and my friends in the community. They all love to hear the positive, uplifting music and the inspiertational God-centered lyrics. Not only does it benefit myself and my family, but as I tell others about it, it benefits them as well. It serves the public interest because it provides people with help, support, encouragement and hope - in a world that provides very few of any of those on its own. Please don't take K-Love off the air. To do so would be an utter tragedy.
